

Introducing DrugData Update

the new way to keep up-to-date

Information, Web & Library Resources

Monday – Thursday at <http://drugscope.blogspot.com>

Find out what's new

- online (with link-through URLs)
- for document delivery
 - journal articles to order from the publisher or us
- from major and small publishers
 - books to use in our library or buy for your own bookshelf

Friday at <http://drugscope.blogspot.com>

Our Focus articles highlight different aspects of our work and the library collection that supports it. For example:

Cannabis: a media review

- our Press Officer highlights the best of the media's coverage in 2005.

Drug treatment directories

- find help for yourself or your clients using these online sources.

Evidence-based research

- our Head of Information on the pick of what's available in this hot topic.

Fiction for young people

- stories that reflect life with drugs and alcohol.

Newspaper cuttings

- looking for old news? Our holdings reach back before online sources began.

Prescription and over the counter drugs

- where to go for help and information

Views of the religious faiths

- ever wondered what the major religions think about drugs and drug use?

Websites for young people

- you've seen D-World, now take a tour of the best of the rest.

... plus articles to tie-in with the seasons: International Women's Month, Alcohol Awareness Month, World Book Day ...

DrugData Update ... always something new

April 2006